José LaMont Jones

Serving Christ in the Democratic Republic of Congo

In a country in which the PC(USA) church partners have a long-standing commitment to transforming lives through education, José assists the Presbyterian Community of Kinshasa (CPK) education department in the development, support and implementation of strategic plans to expand and strengthen the churches' primary and secondary education programs. José works closely with PC(USA) mission initiators engaged in this work, seeking to facilitate their active involvement with the CPK in achieving its goals for educational excellence. He also helps make connections with non-governmental organizations (NGOs) working in related fields.
